

Environmental Compliance and Outreach

Paramount Solutions' Environmental Compliance and Outreach Services are a synergistic combination of communication and engineering capabilities. Through our team of highly-qualified consultants and partners, we offer a range of environmental outreach and training services for industry compliance and public education, including customized environmental training programs to meet regulatory requirements and customer needs. Our EHS regulatory specialists cover the areas of air, water, waste management, workplace health & safety, and driver safety. They are trained in implementing site-specific planning in full compliance with federal and state EPA and OSHA standards as well as industry consensus codes (e.g., ISO, NFPA). The following are examples of our personnel outreach and compliance capabilities:

- Environmental Management Systems
- Health & Safety Management Plans
- OSHA workplace compliance (e.g., LOTO, confined space, HazCom)
- Water quality sampling and monitoring
- Environmental site assessments
- Water and waste water management
- Chemical spill/ leak assessments
- Laboratory Hygiene & Safety
- Solid and hazardous waste management

Paramount's staff can also assist in fulfilling the community relations needs of a customer through services such as preparing project background materials, determining strategies, conducting public forum meetings or meetings with private interest groups, and conducting interviews with the media.
